Dear Colleague,

On behalf of the Educational Committee of the International Society on Thrombosis and Haemostasis, we are pleased to invite you to join us at the ISTH Advanced Course in Haemostasis and Thrombosis that will be held in Belgrade, November 7-9, 2012.

This meeting is intended for trainees and junior specialists in Haematology, Transfusion Medicine, Vascular Medicine, Biochemistry and other medical specialties engaged in problem of thrombosis and haemostasis and PhDs wishing to acquire biochemical and clinical knowledge in the field of haemorrhagic and thrombotic disorders. We welcome as participants medical professionals from South East European countries: Serbia, Montenegro, Croatia, Slovenia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Macedonia, Romania, Bulgaria, Greece etc.

The programme will be focused on the most recent developments in pathophysiology, diagnosis and clinical management of haemorrhagic and thrombotic disorders and their impact on individual patients. This will be accomplished through lectures given by eminent international and local speakers as well as by close interaction with the participants (case reports and research presented by participants and free discussions).

Details of the programme are available at www.uhts.org.rs. CME accreditation will be given by the Health Council of the Republic of Serbia

The course is organized by the International Society on Thrombosis and Haemostasis in collaboration with the World Federation of Hemophilia and the Serbian Society of Haemostasis and Thrombosis.

The meeting will be held at the Best Western Hotel M (Address: Bulevar oslobodjenja 56a, 11000 Belgrade, Serbia, Web: www.hotel-m.com). Different categories of accommodations are available. Special rates are foreseen for the meeting participants.

The registration fee of 12 000 RSD (VAT is not included) covers access to the scientific sessions, printed material, certificate of attendance, welcome reception, meals, refreshments during the meeting and farewell dinner. The number of participants is limited and early registration is recommended.

Competitive grants in order to support participation at the meeting will be awarded to participants up to 35 years based on application with short CV and motivation letter.
